Though the President made it plain at he had no intention at present laying the subject before Congress. he is keeping in close touch with the Capital through Chairman Bacon. It is not regarded as likely that President Wilson will make any move until he hears from Huerta through O'Shaughtiessy. Though newspaper press dis-patches, however, have indicated that fluerta would refuse to retire efficially it was noted along this line that re-ports of a definite character had been received.

Attention centred chiefly on the proposal to remove the embargo on arms. The President indicated that nothing The President indicated that forming tow had been determined upon in this connection. In his recent address to Congress he took a strong position against giving arms to any faction on the ground that more munitions of ar meant mided inhumanity.
